The patrons of the school conducted by Miss fannic Mattison on Magazine Hill, together Nannie Mattison on Magazine Hil', together with a number of visitors, were highly entertained on last Friday afternoon with the performances on the part of the children attending that school. As will be seen from the programs which we give below the exercises were of a varied and entertaining character. We must say that, in view of the fact that the children attending this school are all quite small and that as it was the first occasion when they were required "to speak in public on the stage," they each performed their parts most courageously, and in some instances most admirably. Miss Mattison seems to comprehend the art of teaching and is giving we believe, entire satisfaction to her patrons. The exercises of her school have closed for the holidays to be resumed on the 2nd Monday in January. Mrs Lula Todd is on her first visit home since her marriage. She is as pretty as ever. A number of the College pupils went home. Drs. Boyce and Lathan each carry a walking stick cut in the "old country." Upon a gold band eneircling Dr. Lathan's is Insertied "From Rev. Wilson." The Rev. Mr. McMurtry, who is now on a visit to Mr. Erwin, presented Dr. Boyce's.

The semi-annual celebration in the Philomathean Society comes off on 3rd Friday of January, 1885. A most attractive programme has been haid out. That of the Euphemean Society takes place in the middle of February, 1885.

The Christmas soirce of the two Colleges takes place in the Female Chapel 25th December.

The ladies festival came off last Friday, He tie their har in ribbin strings, He paint their checks all red. He hang 'cas bout wid Chrismus bells Dat Jingle on his sled. The ladies festival came off last Friday, 19th. It was decidedly the hit of the senson. Notwithstanding the intense cold of the evening a good house greeted the ladies. The tables were literally burdened with meats and rich delicac.es. A number of whole cakes and whole baked tarkeys were sold to different individuals. Some members of families who could not get out had their supper sent to them at their homes. The oyster supper and the fish pond added much to the occasion. The doors opened at 5 o'clock and by haif-past 8 o'clock every thing was sold out. The fish pond sold out and was replenished a number of times, the same article frequently selling more than once. The uttermost good cheer prevailed and "it was good to be there." The receipts amounted to $185 or $190. This money good direct to the Church Building Committee. They have about fin shed up the building and find a deficit of some two thousand dollars. The whole cost of the building will exceed $1,000. When complete the new church will be "a thing of joy and beauty forever." Prof. W. S. Lowry seemed to return to his boyhood days Friday night. A youth of 25 could not have shown more gallantry or activity in waiting on the tables.

There was immense fun in hauling out the ecis and fish at the fish pond. Two or three hooks were kept busy all the time. Roars of laughter would greet certain catches.

Mr. John A. Deviln was quite gallant and useful at the festival, for which the ladles are thankful.

President Kennedy called for "stuff sausage" and kept some of the waiters busy hunting for "that which was not."

Prof. Hood seemed to enjoy the supper.

Prof. Miller bought two handsome cakes and presented one to the ladies. The other he sends to his mother in Chester, S. C.

Drs. Miller and Edwards and Wideman forgot their pattents in the festivities of Friday night. They were equal to the occasion, however.

The mild Spring-like atmosphere has at last assumed the ley, freezing temperature of stern winter. Saturday the thermometer indicated fifteen degrees below the freezing point. Sabbath morning dawned with the earth clad with a silvery robe, and leaky clouds prevailed aid day, increasing its romantic appearance wrought by a constant congealing breeze.

Much speculation as to to the safety of the oat crop will be rife for a season as it had but a very limited space to take root sufficient to resist much severity. Since the earth has been relieved of its dryness, a good stand of that cereal has appeared and infused much hope of realizing an expectant yield. Recent-

The swollen tide of colored imigration is beginning to diminish in its vast proportions. It has freighted off much of the "bone and sinew" of the land. Speculation doubtless is the moving spirit of emigration, and should be denounced as detrimental to the developement of our material resources. Our country would not be seriously harmed if the exodus was confined to the "worthless transh" and "leading characters" such as Cy Winbush notoriety. His exit from this community is not likely to be deplored by the adherents of democratic principles. Some of our best laboring material is induced by deceptive persuasion to transfer their chances of fortune to the farfamed fertile soil of the West, where, they are fold by emigrantagents, they can feast upon the "lat of the land" without undergoing much manual or pecuniary expense. Emigration will rot likely have a tendency to enhance the valuation of our reatity and add anything to our material wealth. This country needs laborers and the African descent is the most suitable and cheapest element of labor that can supply this necessity. Inmigration has been tried and proved to be very defective and unreliable. The expression, Give me a negros of can talk to him as I pleuse," is no uncommon utterance when the labor question is being discussed. I am not disposed to countenance the efforts that are being made to deprive us of this class of people. If there is any available resort to stem this mighty current of emigration that is bearing offour those by the "car loans" almost daily, we should not hesitate to make it effective.

Christmas will overcome all obstacles and make its appearance once a year. Bacchanalian orgies will be in vogue, restraints of morality will be cut loose for a time and full sway given to the depraved propensities of human nature, which are entirely inconsistent to the true import of our Redeemer's advent in this apostate world. Apparently, no responsibility iscurred in evil doing on Christmas occasions.
